Alfred Harding, Bishop of Washington, performed the ceremony, which was witnessed by a small company of relatives and a few close friends of the young couple.

The wedding party stood in the bay window of the drawing room, which was decorated with pink roses against a background of palms. Pink roses, daisies and palms formed the decorations throughout the drawing room and dining room.

The bride was preceded by her two little cousins, Sallie and Minna Finney, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Finney, who served as flower girls, wearing dainty frocks of white or pink and white hats trimmed with pink roses and carrying old-fashioned bouquets in lace holders.

The bride, who was given in marriage by Capt. Cedarwald, wore a gown of white georgette crepe and a white crepe hat adorned with roses of pastel hues, matching the varicolored girdle of the gown. She carried a bouquet of pale pink roses. The bride's brother, Mr. Carlisle Whitling, a student at the officers' reserve corps training camp at Fort Myer, was best man. There were no other attendants.

After the ceremony there was an informal reception. Mrs. Cedarwald wore a smart gown of pale gray voile. When Ensign Stonestreet and his bride left for their wedding journey the latter wore a suit of ponce trimmed with dark blue silk and a silk hat of dark blue. Their plans are very uncertain, depending upon Ensign Stonestreet's orders.

THE CASE OF COSTANZA.

I wish I knew what had become of Costanza. I took her to the studio last winter as I stepped from the car at the entrance to the studio at Fort Lee, a girl came up to me. She was perhaps nineteen, maybe younger, a slender, vivacious Italian type, dressed in the style of the day. She was smiling at me, and I felt that I had met her before. I asked her name, and she said "Costanza." I asked her where she was from, and she said "New York and Quokke, I. I. The bride's gown was white satin, embroidered with pearls and trimmed with old rose point lace. Her lace veil was a masterpiece of lace. The bride was arranged over the veil, with a coronet of lace. She carried a bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley.

There were no ushers, but Master James Shook Davis, Jr., the young brother of the bride, acted as best man. The house was decorated with pink Rambler roses, oak leaves, and Southern smilax.

Mr. Walcott is a graduate of Cornell University, a member of the Phi Beta Kappa fraternity, and is now in training for the officers' reserve corps at Plattburgh, N. Y. He has a brother, Edward Walcott, who is in the aviation corps in France. The bride is a graduate of Packer Institute and of Cornell University.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Roland N. Harrison have left Washington for Seabright, N. J., to spend the summer.

The Duc de Guiche, of the permanent French mission, gave a dinner on Saturday evening on the roof of the Powhattan Hotel. The party included Representative and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth and their guest, Mrs. Henry S. Lippitt; Mr. and Mrs. Warren Delano Robbins, Countess Gizecky, Mrs. Robert McCormick and Lieut. de Vasseau de Chevigne, as well as other guests.

Governor and Mrs. Charles S. Whitman and children arrived at their residence on Price's Neck, Newport, yesterday, where the Governor will be able to enjoy only a short rest before returning to Albany.

"Well, if you were alone, I think I'd tell you to keep out of trouble, and if you were not alone, I'd tell you to keep out of trouble, and if you were not alone, I'd tell you to keep out of trouble. That isn't revenge."

HOROSCOPE.

Tuesday, July 3, 1917.

Uranus rules strongly for good today, according to astrology, but Neptune is in a slightly inimical aspect. It is a favorable day for the public which to deal with women. Romance, however, may color all associations.

Travel and removals are subject to a rather lucky guidance. The sea is not inviting, under this configuration, for while there is no sign of danger today, danger is plainly indicated.

Forethought is believed to be sharpened by this direction of the planets and is under the influence of the public may cause temporary trouble. Realization of certain aspects of the war will be strong under this way and there may be riots and disturbances.

President Wilson comes under a government of the stars which seems to indicate that he will reach his highest point of popularity this month.

Increase of crime is prognosticated for the next few months. Socialists have a direction of the stars, which seems to indicate growth of power and a sudden access of interest from the general public.

Theatrical folk, whether managers or actors, should be cautious during the next three months. A plague of insects, possibly grasshoppers, has been foretold and warnings is given that farmers should safeguard possibility of loss before the end of the month.

Uranus gives promise of new inventions and discoveries, which will add much to the prestige of the United States. Persons whose birthdate it is, have a year of change before them. They will probably journey or remove with success.

Children born on this day have the augury of happy lives in which they will attain their heart's desire. (Copyright, 1917.)

Want a job as shot firer? The United States Service Commission will hold an examination for this position July 17. There is a vacancy in the Bureau of Mines at Pittsburgh, Pa., which pays $240 a year. The appointee must handle large quantities of high explosives.

GENIUS WILL WIN WAR, SAYS EXPERT

Englishman Speaks of Conditions in North Sea Blockade.

Ultimate victory for the United States and its allies in the war depends upon the ingenuity and the inventive genius of the nation in devising a method to effectively combat the German submarine warfare.

Arthur H. Pollen, English war expert, speaking before the Navy League of the United States, at the Willard last night, made it plain that the developments of the world war had made it imperative that wide and extensive experiments, daring and decision and the brains of the allies must be applied to a solution of the Teuton warfare on the seas.

In his address Mr. Pollen said, in part: "We have to prove that the German theory as to their power to cut sea communications and to render the belligerence of the United States ineffective is wrong, and it can only be proved by defeating the submarine. There are three courses open. We may block the exit to the German harbors by active sea operation. Could such an effective blockade be established the German fleet would be definitely immobilized, and then the problem of watching the ports at close range, and of blocking them with a mine field, so that submarines could not get out, would be solved."

"The second course is to block the North Sea and the Channel by establishing an impassable combination of nets and mines, but there are certain problems, difficult of solution, albeit, not necessarily insoluble, in connection with such operations. In the North Sea there are tides and storms and sea actions which make it an extremely difficult task to anchor mines and to maintain nets. Moreover, such operations are difficult to carry out on such a large scale."

"Third, we may defend our ships by arming them, by providing them with improved rotation, and other means of defense against submarine attack."

Judge Norris to Speak.

Judge William F. Norris, of the Department of Justice, has accepted an invitation to deliver an address at a patriotic meeting to be held in Johnstown, Pa., July 4. About eighteen thousand people are expected to attend.

LIGHT-HEARTED WOMEN.

A cheerful, light-hearted woman is the joy of a man's life. Beauty will fade, a good figure will change, but the charm of health and cheerfulness will endure to the end. But how can a woman be cheerful and happy when dragged down by some female derangement, with a backache, headache, and often on the verge of a nervous breakdown?

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the standard remedy for such ailments. During the last 40 years thousands of homes have been made happy by this woman's great remedy for women's ills—Adv.
